STEAM MACHINERY

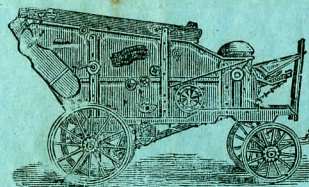

Adapted to the operations of Farming and Lumbering have become a necessity. Purchasers of Steam Engines and Steam Sawmills want the most and best for their money. They want reliable and durable machinery. Instead of merely "cheap" machines and "long-time" payments, they desire the most improved and in every way the most satisfactory and complete Engines and Mills. AT THE LOWEST CASH PRICE consistent with best materials and first-class workmanship. The Eclipse Engines and Mills are guaranteed to meet these demands. The excess of power given is a commendable feature. The 8-horse Eclipse has same diameter of steam cylinder and hence, gives as much power, as many others rated at 10 and 12-horse. The Eclipse has generally received the First Premiums, Medals and Diplomas at State and County fairs; and while at the Centennial received not only the Medal and two Diplomas, but also the Judges' Report of "BEST RESULTS" AT THE FIELD TRIAL. Our Traction attachments are a complete success. The Engine is made self-propelling from one farm to another. This is done most easily by putting two horses to the Separator and letting the Engine push the train. We also build Road Locomotives, from 8 to 25-horse power, Stationary Engines, Boilers, etc. Catalogues, etc., sent to those who contemplate buying anything in our line. Persons requiring time to pay should state what they must have. We can then accept or refuse. State plainly what is wanted. We invite your correspondence.

THE GEISER SELF-REGULATING GRAIN SEPARATOR, CLEANER & BAGGER.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AT THE GREAT FIELD TRIAL AT THE CENTENNIAL, JULY 18-25, 1876.

The only Separator containing all the Geiser patents—consequently the only genuine Geiser Separator in the market. Adapted for either Steam or Horse power. These Separators are noted for the superior manner in which they separate and clean the Grain ready for Market, and also for the smooth running movements, there being so little jar or shake about them that the breaks will hold them steady, not even blocks being needed at the wheels. In order to accommodate the public they are put up in five different sizes, from a 36-in. cyl. with 50-in. trunk down to 25-in. cyl. with 29-in. trunk.

CAN THIS BE BEAT?—Among many others, we are in receipt of the following gratuitous testimony: "COVINGTON, GEORGIA, June 27, 1879.—Geiser Manufacturing Company: Gentlemen:—One of your No. 3 Machines with a two-horse Eclipse Engine, threshed 400 bushels of wheat in five hours. How is that for good work? THOMAS CAMP." These excellent Separators are manufactured only by THE GEISER MFG. COMPANY, Waynesboro, Franklin Co., Pa.

And Sold with the Eclipse Engine. To the Reader—When writing to either of these firms, name this Almanac.

The fifth is a total Eclipse of the Moon, on the 16th of December, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; therefore invisible.

The sixth is a partial Eclipse of the Sun on the 31st of December, at 8 o'clock 2 min., morning; visible at sunrise, at Washington, and ends at 8 o'clock 48 min., morning; visible at sunrise, at Elkhart, begins at 6 o'clock 35 min.; middle 7 o'clock 15 min.; and ends at 8 o'clock 14 min.; morning; invisible at Lincoln, Nebraska. The Sun will be nearly 5 Digits eclipsed on the northern part.

The above three Eclipses in the month of December, will not often transpire, that is in one month, and may not occur again, until over a hundred years.

CENTENNIAL ALMANAC FOR 1880.

MOON IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

Concerning the influence of the Moon, those of old, it is believed, have said, If this planet is seen in certain positions towards the sun, the earth and other planets, its power will be observed in the weather, in the productiveness of the seasons and in the special constitution of both men and animals.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL. This year will be more moist than cold and dry.

SPRING. Will be very wet and warm, with occasional frost. March will be cold throughout; April rainy; May, in the beginning, will be fine, with considerable rain, followed by severe cold. June will be very pleasant with occasional rains.

SUMMER. Summer will be occasionally warm, but frequently cold.

FALL AND WINTER. The beginning of this season will be wet, and moderately cold; afterwards quite cold and wet; with December will be snow, followed by much rain. After the 20th it will be pretty cold and cloudy, till towards the 12th of January; afterward more moderate, but soon cold again, until about the 25th, when much snow and rain will fall. March will be, in the beginning, rough and cold, then warm. During this winter sheep and bees will be apt to die.

CULTIVATION OF SUMMER GRAIN. When this year has a warm summer, the sowing of the summer crops should not be delayed, yet they should not be thrown into the ground too early, since the hot weather commences late. Barley and oats at least will produce moderately; also lentils, peas and millet, which often produce very well on good fields. Do not sow too late nor too early. There will be plenty of hay, but little second crop.

WINTER GRAIN. The fields of winter grain, and especially the rye, which if sown early in the fall and is rank and large, should be pastured down with the sheep, otherwise it will be too rank and produce more straw than grain. If the wheat in May is large and rank, it will produce little, for it grows too fast; this however will not be the case on poor soil.

FALL SEEDING. This should be sown as early as possible; it will then produce little enough, for during the cold weather it will grow but very little, and if winter should come early, sheep should not be permitted, to pasture on it, or they will crop it too short. All the seed should be sown deep into the earth, else by the plentiful floods of winter it will be washed out.

FRUIT. In some parts will be plenty; in others scarce. Acorns will be scarce.

HOPS. These will produce moderately; generally suffer in the Spring from mildew and hail.

WINE. There will be little vintage: grapes should be gathered early, as there is no hope for good weather. Vines should be covered early.

WIND AND STORM. In the winter there will be heavy winds and extraordinary rains; in the spring and summer there will not be a great deal of thunderstorm, though some, which will not do much injury.

SICKNESS. In the fall there will be severe and fatal fevers, and all sorts of dangerous diseases.

NAZARETH.

Nazareth is not mentioned in the Old Testament or in Josephus, but occurs first in Matt. ii. 23. It derives its celebrity almost entirely from its connection with the history of Christ, and in that respect has a hold on the imagination and feelings of men which it shares only with Jerusalem and Bethlehem. It is situated among the hills which constitute the south ridges of Lebanon, just before they sink down into the Plain of Esdraelon. Of the identification of the ancient site there can be no doubt. The name of the present village is en-Nazrah, the same, therefore as of old; it is formed on a hill or mountain (Luke iv. 29); it is within the limits of the province of Gallilee (Mark i. 9); it is near Cans, according to the implication in John ii. 1, 2, 11; a precipice exists in the neighborhood (Luke iv. 29); and, finally a series of testimonies reach back to Eusebius, the father of Church history, which represent the place as having occupied an invariable position. The modern Nazareth belongs to the better class of Eastern villages. It has a population of 3,000 or 4,000; a few are Mohammedans, the rest Latin and Greek Christians. Most of the houses are well built of stone, and have a neat and comfortable appearance. The streets or lanes are narrow and crooked, and after a rain are so full of mud and mire as to be almost impassable. The origin of the disrepute in which Nazareth stood (John i. 47) is not certainly known. All the inhabitants of Galilee were looked upon with contempt by the people of Judea because they spoke a ruder dialect, were less cultivated, and were more exposed by their position to contact with the heathen. But Nazareth labored under a special opprobrium, for it was a Gallilean, and not a southern Jew, who asked the reproachful question whether "any good thing" could come from that source. It has been suggested that the inhabitants of Nazareth may have had a bad name among their neighbors for irreligion or some laxity of morals. We pass over, as foreign to the object of this notice, any particular account of the "holy places" which the legends have sought to connect with events in the life of Christ. Two localities, however, form an exception to this statement, inasmuch as they possess, though in different ways, a certain interest which no one will fail to recognize. One of these is the "Fountain of the Virgin," situated at the north-eastern extremity of the town, where according to one tradition, the mother of Jesus received the angel's salutation (Luke i. 28). The other place is that of the attempted Precipitation. A prevalent opinion of the country has transferred the event to a hill about two miles south-east of the town, but this is improbable. Above the bulk of the town are several rocky ledges, over which a person could not be thrown without almost certain destruction. But there is one very remarkable precipice, almost perpendicular, and forty or fifty feet high, near the Maronite church, which may well be supposed to be the identical one over which His infuriated townsmen attempted to hurl Jesus.

INTRODUCTION.

For the last six years we have been trying to supply the Church with a Family Almanac, and in doing so we have labored, so far as possible, to adapt it to the wants of our patrons, and from the liberal patronage which we have so far received, we are led to believe that, to a considerable extent, we have not failed in our intentions; and as a good family Almanac seems to be a household necessity, we have now commenced the publication of one for 1880. Notwithstanding our motto is, in making Almanacs as well as everything else, "onward and upward," yet the sameness of the nature of the work makes it very difficult to add much noticeable improvement.

As the Ministerial List, excepting the astronomical calculations, is one of the most prominent features about it, we have made every effort to make it as correct as possible, and through the aid of a number of our brethren, we think that the present list is tolerably correct. If not, those who should have been interested are to blame and not us, as we gave all of our ministers an opportunity of having their names and addresses correctly inserted in the list.

An important change in the making up of the list was urged upon us by a number of our brethren. We have reference to publishing the lists in States instead of publishing all the names in alphabetical order as heretofore. In aiding us in this we acknowledge the assistance of the following brethren: Eld. C. G. Lint prepared the lists for Pennsylvania and Kansas, Eld. Enoch Eby for Illinois, and Eld. E. K. Buechly for Iowa. The others we have prepared ourselves, and have made them as nearly correct as possible with the facilities we had at our command.

The reading columns are filled with such matter as we trust will be both interesting and instructive. On the whole we think this the best Almanac that we have yet published, and feel assured that it is fully worth the small price asked for it, and hope that we shall be rewarded for our labor by sharing the liberal patronage that has heretofore been given us.

READING IN THE FAMILY.

Books and periodicals should be angels in every household. They are urns to bring us golden fruit of thought and experience from other minds and other lands. As the fruit of the trees of the earth's soil are most enjoyed around the family board, so should those that mature upon mental and moral boughs be gathered around by the entire household. No home exercise could be more appropriate and pleasing than for one member to read aloud for the benefit of all. An author's ideas are energized by the confidence and love of the tender family affections, and every heart is open to the truth, like the unfolded rose to receive the gathering dews. The ties of love between parents and children, and brothers and sisters, are thus cemented more and more, and varied charms and pleasures are constantly opened through this medium to make home a very paradise. If parents would introduce this exercise in their families, they would soon see the levity and giddiness that make up the conversation of too many circles giving way to refinement and chaste dignity.

MOODY ON MARRIAGE.

In an address Mr. Moody said:—This first miracle was performed at a wedding. The first thing that will take place in the next dispensation will be the marriage of the Lamb. I want to say a few words about matrimony. The moment I mention this subject there is a general titter. People talk about death as the most solemn thing in life. I believe the most solemn step any man ever took was matrimony. There are a number of hells on earth to-day because people have not been led together by God; because their marriage was not made in heaven, and God never intended them to live together. They are living miserable, wretched lives in consequence. I don't know any subject we ought to pray more over, and it is farthest from our prayers. We pray for everything else, but we do not pray for a blessing on our marriage. Look at the misery, the wretchedness to-day on account of it. I want to say right here, and I don't want to give any uncertain sound, may God have mercy on those men who put away their wives for nothing. There is a God of equity sitting in the heavens, who will judge them by-and-by. Don't let those men think they are going to escape judgment. This thing of divorce is alarming, and yet by many it is considered a trifle. Men get married to-day and are divorced to-morrow. "What God hath joined together let no man put asunder." I believe in Paul's declaration, that no unconverted person should marry a converted person. What right has a religious man to give himself away to a godless, Christless woman; or what right has a religious woman to ally herself for life with an irreligious man? When you speak to people about this, they laugh at you and say it is none of your business—that the church has nothing to do with it. But the church has to do with it. There is just as imperative a law in regard to it as the command, "Thou shalt not steal." Look at the misery which comes from such alliances! If you are going to marry, be sure that you have Christ and his disciples there. Do not do anything you cannot ask the Lord to bless you in.

THE AGE OF A BESETTING SIN.

Its age is not always the same. Sometimes an evil propensity is born with us and develops with the earliest intelligence. Some bring with them into the world an irascible temper which is their cross from infancy to old age. Some exhibit a constitutional debility in matters of appetite, so that if they but wet the shoe in the puddle of intemperance, there is no rest until they sound the foulest depths of drunkenness.

But oftenest the besetting sin is of later date, a parasite not born with us but fastened upon us; something foolishly learned, carelessly contracted; something induced by the atmosphere in which we chance to dwell.

"How long ago is it since this came upon me? How many years have I dragged this weary chain of besetting sin?" Thus may each one question himself.

"Of a child," must be the answer. Aye, and oftentimes it hath cast me into the fire and into the water, to destroy me! How inveterate then is that disorder, and how must it have engrained itself into the very fibers of our being. Surely this kind goeth not forth but by prayer and fasting.

Or is it otherwise; something not so much sent as chosen; something learned when you had no need to learn it; that became by reason of indulgence and repetition a habit, which a little while ago was not a habit? How does this consideration enhance the mystery and add pungency to the self condemnation—Bishop Lay.

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY.

BY SILAS THOMAS.

The following slip was, some years ago, cut from a Philadelphia paper—which one I do not now remember—and laid aside among my scraps. Its existence was forgotten; but happening to turn it up the other day, and, upon inquiry, finding the information it contains correct, I concluded to send it for publication.

The Brethren of the Past in Germantown and Philadelphia.

The Dunkards, or Brethren, who were in occupancy of their meeting-house on Main Street, Germantown, above the present Sharpnack street, in the year 1800, continued their worship at that place under the direction of Alexandrer Mack. During the time of Mack and Sauer they were assisted by Philip Weaver, Nathaniel Schriver, and Daniel Letherman. Mack died in 1803, and Peter Keyser, the younger, then had charge of the congregation. He was made bishop in the year 1802. Although he resided in Philadelphia, his connection with the Germantown meeting remained. He was always ready to conduct the services on Sundays at the proper hours, although he had to come from Philadelphia for the purpose. This duty, without regard to weather, he never neglected. After he was installed as bishop, he was assisted in the ministry at Germantown by Charles Hubbs, Christian VanLashet, and John W. Price.

About the year 1813, Peter Keyser, finding there was a sufficient number of brethren in Philadelphia to authorize the establishment of a congregation, devoted his attention to that purpose. The church was organized about the year 1813, and for more than four years the members worshipped in a school-room at the northwest corner of Fourth and Vine streets.

On March 19, 1817, the members of this congregation held a meeting for the purpose of considering the expediency of building a meeting house, when it was stated that nearly five thousand dollars were already subscribed. It was then resolved to undertake it, and James Lynd, George Gorgas, Jacob Zeigler, James Gorgas, and John Rink were appointed a committee to procure a piece of ground suitable for the purpose. They purchased a lot on the east side of Crown street, below Callowhill, from Jesse Stellwagen, for forty-two hundred and fifty dollars. It was forty-five feet front on Crown street, running through of that width to Fourth street, being about eighty six feet from street to street. Peter Keyser, James Lynd, John Heisler, John Fox, Christopher Lehman, J. Gorgas, Christopher S. Langstroth, Michael Keyser, and John Leibert, were appointed trustees of the same, and also the building committee. Strafer and Ritter agreed to lay the brick at two dollars and sixty-seven cents per thousand, and the stone at seventy-five cents per perch, and make an allowance in the bill for the benefit of the church. W. Steinmets furnished the brick at eight dollars and fifty cents per thousand, and gave a donation of three thousand brick. V. Senderling dug the cellar at eighteen and three-quarter cents per cubic yard. William Jones offered to plaster the house at ten cents per yard, and make a present of fifty dollars.

The house was consecrated October 12, 1817. In the morning Peter Keyser spoke from the ninth chapter of Hebrews, first to fifth verses. In the afternoon he spoke from the nineteenth chapter of Luke, forty-sixth verse; and in the evening from the twenty-sixth chapter of Acts, twenty-second and twenty-third verses.

March 5, 1818, Peter Keyser presented a fine large pulpit Bible, which was in use until April 21, 1854, when it was replaced by a new one.

For sixty-three years Peter Keyser was pastor of the Germantown and Philadelphia churches, during forty-seven of which he was bishop. He was a most efficient preacher in both the English and German languages. Beside his profound knowledge of Scripture he was also distinguished as an eloquent orator, and whenever he preached he drew crowds of hearers from all denominations. "He was diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." For beside faithfully discharging his numerous secular and ministerial labors, he was engaged in almost every measure for the good of his fellow-man. He was long a member, and for a while, secretary, of the board of health, inspector and treasurer of the prison, an active member of the society for alleviating the miseries of the public prisons, and was director and controller of the public schools when the system was first adopted. In short, he was, as Job says, "Eyes to the blind, feet to the lame, a father to the poor; and the cause which he knew not he searched out."

The first fruits of the meeting in Philadelphia took place in the baptism of Christian Flower and Catharine Evans, on Easter day, April 6, 1817, in the Schuylkill, by Peter Keyser. In the church in the city during this time Elder Keyser was assisted by James Lynd, John Heisler, Timothy Bangor, John Righter, Thomas Major, and John Fox.

To the above I will add a few items about brother Peter Keyser that may be of interest to some brethren and sisters.

I heard him preach twice—once in the Crown street meeting house, Philadelphia, to a large audience; the second time at the dedication of the Upper Dublin house of worship, Montgomery Co., Pa. On that occasion he made use, with great effect, of the comprehensive and emphatic words of the apostle Paul: "I seek not yours, but you." II. Cor. xii. 14.

I have a vivid recollection of his appearance and manner. In person he was tall and straight; in diction, solemn, impressive, and eloquent. His dress was of brown cloth, cut according to the very plainest Quaker style. He wore a very broad brimmed hat, and shaved all his beard off. In fact, he might have been supposed by strangers to be a very plain member of the society of Friends. He was a strong advocate of that glory of the brotherhood of his day—a gratuitous ministry.

He was a tanner, or leather dresser, by trade, and very "diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." Sister Susan Douglass, now some years dead, told me he was often seen with the Scriptures lying open beside him on his work-bench, and reading them whatever leisure time he had. Hence his great knowledge of the word of God.

FIRST FAMILY PRAYER.

The eccentric Rowland Hill was once driven by a storm into a village inn, and compelled to spend the night. When it grew late the landlord sent a request by the waiter that the guest would go to bed. Mr. Hill replied:

"I have been waiting a long time, expecting to be called to family prayer."

"Family prayer! I don't know what you mean, sir; we never have such things here."

"Indeed! then tell your master I cannot go to bed until we have had family prayer."

The waiter informed his master, who, in consternation, bounced into the room occupied by the faithful minister, and said:

"Sir, I wish you would go to bed. I cannot go until I have seen the lights all out; I am so afraid of fire."

"So am I," was the reply; "but I have been expecting to be summoned to family prayer."

"All very good, sir; but it cannot be done at an inn."

"Indeed! then pray get my horse. I can not sleep in a house where there is no family prayer."

The host preferred to dismiss his prejudice rather than his guest, and said:

"I have no objection to having prayer, but I don't know how."

"Well, then, summon your people and let us see what can be done."

The landlord obeyed, and in a few minutes the astonished domestics were on their knees, and the landlord called upon to pray.

"Sir, I never prayed in my life; I don't know how."

"Ask God to teach you," was the gentle reply.

The landlord, folding his hands, said: "God teach us how to pray."

"That is prayer, my friend," cried Mr. Hill, joyfully; "go on."

"I am sure I do not know what to say now, sir."

"Yes, you do; God has taught you how to pray, now thank him for it."

"Thank you, God Almighty, for letting us pray to you."

"Amen! Amen!" exclaimed Mr. Hill, and then prayed himself.

Two years afterward, Mr. Hill found in that same village a chapel and a school, as the result of the first effort at family prayer at the "Black Lion."

Out of the heart, not out of the brain, are the best issues of life. And many a one who has not been able to find God, or to construct any satisfactory evidence concerning him, through speculations of the intellect, has found him by the path of that old beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," have seen him not as a visible being standing before their outward eyes, nor comprehended him as an infinite person by their intellectual faculty, but found him in the inner consciousness of their hearts, through the vitalizing impulses of that energy of goodness which is the fulfilling of every law of duty.

What the world calls avarice is sometimes no more than compulsory economy, and even a wiful penuriousness is better than a wasteful extravagance. A just man, being reproached with parsimony, said that he would rather enrich his enemies after his death than borrow of his friends in his lifetime.

THE TOBACCO HABIT.

A man in our neighborhood having of late become convinced on the tobacco question, was led to make a calculation of how much his tobacco habit had cost him in forty years, computing at compound interest. He was so astounded at the result that he engaged another more skillful than himself in the use of figures, to correct or supervise his work. The outlay was found to amount to no less than thirteen thousand three hundred dollars. He is a poor man, and no wonder. Thirteen thousand three hundred dollars in the course of forty years, spit and smoked away. Think of this, gentle reader, when you smoke tobacco. It is often pleaded on behalf of the tobacco user: But may not the poor man, after the toil of the day is done, be allowed the comfort of a quiet smoke in his own chimney corner or by his own fireside? We ask, would not the stimulus to be derived from the evening paper which the money puffed away in smoke would buy, or from some good book, or from the thought that he was doing something better for his children than he would otherwise be able to do, or that he was laying up something for a wet day, prove quite as comforting, and far more civilizing and ennobling, than that drawn from a stinking pipe in the chimney corner?

A CHRISTIAN GENTLEMAN.

He is above a mean thing. He cannot stoop to a mean fraud. He invades no secrets in the keeping of another. He betrays no secret confided to his own keeping. He never struts in borrowed plumage. He takes selfish advantage of no man's mistakes. He uses no ignoble weapons in controversy. He never stabs in the dark. He is ashamed of innuendoes. He is not one thing to a man's face and another behind his back. If by accident he comes into possession of his neighbor's counsels, he passes upon them an act of instant oblivion. He bears sealed packages without tampering with the wax. Papers not meant for his eye, whether they flutter in at his window, or lie open before him in unguarded exposure, are sacred to him. He professes no privacy of others, however the sentry sleeps. Bolts and bars, locks and keyes, hedges and pickets, bonds and securities, notices to trespassers, are none of them for him. He may be trusted—himself out of sight—near the thinnest partition, anywhere. He buys no office, he sells none, he intrigues for none. He would rather fail in his rights than win them through dishonor. He will eat honest bread or none. He tramples on no sensitive feeling. He insults no man. If he have rebuke for another, he is straightforward, open, and manly. He cannot descend to scurrility. From all profane and wanton words his lips are chastened. In short, whatever he judges honorable, he practices toward every man.

THE TERRIBLE DECISION.

A young lady who was very worldly and frivolous, although she had been connected with a Sabbath-school for years, was brought under deep conviction for sin. The Spirit pressed the thought upon her, that she must give up the ball-room and the vanities of fashion. There had been no teaching on the subject. It was the Spirit's test brought to her where sacrifice seemed hardest. For many days there was a sharp struggle, and we urged her to give up the world and take Christ at any cost. But at home there were adverse influences. The mother, although a member of the church, laughed at the idea of giving up the world for Christ. After days of struggle she came to us and said: "I have decided. You say take Christ at any cost; I now decide to take the world at any cost."

We pleaded with tearful eyes with her to reconsider the matter and not reject Christ. But the only answer was, "There will be time enough yet; mother says I am too young to become a Christian."

One month from that time, arrayed in a gaudy white robe, flashing with jewels, her long, beautiful crimped hair hanging down over her shoulders, she came into the sitting-room where her father and mother and other members of the family were, that they might have an opportunity to admire her before she joined the gentleman awaiting her in the parlor. A carriage was at the door to take them to a ball. Somehow as amid their compliments she was turning about for their inspection, her floating hair caught fire from a gas jet, and in a moment she was in a blaze. Her father sprang forward and caught her in his arms, and tried with his naked hands to smother the flame, till they were burned to the bone. Table covers, everything at hand, were seized, and at last the fire was quenched; but she, the beautiful one, the child of the world, lay crisp and blackened, and unconscious. She lingered in agony for two days, but never she recovered consciousness.

She had taken the world, cost what it would.

And oh! what a fearful cost.

Mothers, how is it with you? Have you daughters, and if so, do you tell them that they are too young to become Christians? It is to be feared that we have just such thoughtless mothers, and though the result of your wicked teaching may not be the same, yet the end of it may be equally fatal—the loss of the soul. This idea that some mothers have that their daughters should first become initiated into the maxims of fashionable society is a terrible hallucination, and is from the devil. God says to the mother, "Train up your child in the way it should go." And to the daughter He says, "Give me thy heart," "First seek the kingdom and its righteousness," with the promise that all other necessary things shall be added; and depend upon it, among them will not be gaudy robes, crimping of hair, or dancing, which has led and is still leading so many to ruin.

On another page we give an article on dancing which we ask you all to carefully read.

"HE LEADETH ME."

In the far-off beautiful land to which we go, we shall remember this. Every ravine passed, every perilous passage crossed, we shall appreciate, as we cannot do now, the glorious hand of our God and Savior which upheld and guided us, step by step. And, oh, what results where we least expected them!

A young girl is to unite with the church this very Sabbath morning. She has a dear brother who has strayed somewhat from the fold, has become proud in the strength of his manhood, and will fain take his own course, despite the prayers and solicitude of his tender loving mother.

This morning Angeline feels that she must speak to that brother and invite him to be present at the hour of her own consecration. How shall she approach him? She fears a positive rebuff. She starts to go to his room; her heart fails her and she returns. Again she makes the effort, and again she trembles and retires. Still the burden is laid upon her, and she dares not go to the house of God with the duty unfulfilled.

The third time she resolves to go in, at whatever cost, and appears in his presence with the simple sisterly plea, "William, I am going to unite with the church this morning, will you not be present?"

That brother looked with some surprise, but with no rebuff or frown, he answered, "I will." Judge of the maiden's relief, of her inward joy! Yet such are often the ways of God. Though that brother was faithful to his promise, years went on ere the seed sown that morning sprang up, and those were years of more wandering.

But there came a time when God spoke to him. The Holy Spirit touched his heart. The rock was smitten and the water flowed. Now, all the mother's prayers and tears are remembered, though she herself has passed into the skies. Now the sister is summoned to his presence, and with joy William goes back to the time of that seed-sowing. Nothing ever touched him like that. Who can doubt the care, the power of the Holy Ghost? "He leadeth me."

PULPIT VOICE.

Many preachers have a pulpit voice. When they are out of church they speak as other people do. They do not employ a deep chest-note when they inquire of the butcher respecting the price of roast beef, and they do not use a dismal monotone when they discuss domestic matters with their wives and children. But as soon as they get into church they unconsciously assume an artificial tone; and they are apt to do this when they have any devotional functions to perform. It has often been observed that if a minister who is chatting easily and naturally at table should be asked to say grace, he will suddenly assume his pulpit voice, articulate with it during the ceremony, and then resume the conversation in his proper voice with the dexterity of a ventriloquist. The pulpit voice is probably attributable to a desire to give solemnity and impressiveness to the performance. It results from an effort to convey to the hearers the deep sense of awe which may fairly be supposed to suffuse the clerical mind. But the result to the listener is far more likely to be an almost irresistible tendency to go to sleep. The effective voice is always the natural voice. The skillful actor touches every chord in the entire gamut of passion, and he gives force and effect to every sentiment, without putting any undue strain upon his vocal machinery. A great truth must be far more impressive when it is urged in the speaker's ordinary tones, modified only by whatever influence of sincere feeling may govern the speaker's mind, than when it is offered in an artificial voice about which there can be no suggestion of genuine passion.

Rashness generally makes work for repentance.

THE SWENKFELDERS.

BY JAS. Y. HECKLER.

The Swenkfelders are a small body of religious professors living chiefly in Montgomery Co., Pa. These, with a few in the adjoining counties comprise their whole organization; and beside these there is no organization of their kind, neither in Europe nor America. They are the followers of Casper Swenkfeldt von Ossing, a Silesian knight, who was born in 1490, two years before the discovery of America. He became cotemporary with Luther, Melancthon and other great men of that period, but differed from them in his opinions concerning the Eucharist. And as his views were unpopular he was banished from the Province by the ruling sovereign.

After 200 years his followers being persecuted by the Jesuits, could no longer find a resting place in Germany without renouncing their religious views, which differed from the tenets of the of the established church in non resistance, non-swearing, &c. They therefore concluded to emigrate to America, which they effected in 1733-34. Some thirty families being the main part of them, landed in Philadelphia on the 22d of September, 1734. The next day they were required to take the oath of allegiance to the king of Great Britain. But being conscientious about swearing, they were permitted to use their own words as follows: "We Silesians, as on account of conscience we could not swear, were readily excused, and were allowed to promise fidelity by giving the hand."

Having the writings of Casper Swenkfeldt, they continued to follow him as their leader until 1782, or about 250 years—and about 50 years after settling in America, where they had full religious liberty, before organizing themselves into a body of religious professors. But in the above named year, 1782, their first congregation was organized. Although a denomination of believers they instituted no religious rites except praying and preaching until quite recently. About two years ago they instituted the rite of sprinkling, and this is only optional. In the same manner the communion was also instituted in order to satisfy the desires of those who would perhaps have taken in with some other sect.

They are a quiet, peaceable, industrious and thrifty people; and there is not a better class of farmers in America than the Swenkfelders. Nearly all of them, if not rich, are in favorable circumstances. They are distinguished for their being kind to the poor and hospitable to strangers. At the present time their entire membership is probably six hundred, and they nearly all speak the Pennsylvania German language. They have six meeting-houses and six preachers who are chosen from their membership by election. They celebrate the 24th day of September annually in commemoration of the arrival of their forefathers in this country. This festival other people are welcome to attend, and their horses will be fed and their dinners provided free. They celebrate this day as a day of thanksgiving to God for their religious liberty. It is not kept as a day of feasting, but on the contrary, they try to imitate as near as they can the plain fare their forefathers lived on. These meetings are a kind of reunion to them, and are largely attended. Ministers from other denominations frequently attend and participate in these meetings.

A certain writer in speaking of them says: "In plainness of dress and simplicity of their mode of living, they resemble the Quakers; and like the latter, they have an unpaid ministry. Their preachers are excused from all church expenses. Their ministers are elected by ballot; the women do not vote, and of course do not preach. In their speech, as well as in their manners, in opposition to war, to oaths, and to a paid ministry; in a belief in the teachings of the Divine Spirit, and in the inferiority of the written word to the indwelling spirit; in discarding religious forms; in opposition to priestcraft or an hierarchy; and although not practicing silent worship, yet in their desire to live in stillness, the Swenkfelders resemble the Quakers. We might almost say they are Quakers of an older type. They differ from the Quakers in employing stated prayers, electing preachers, in not acknowledging the spiritual equality of women, and in their peculiar doctrine of the glory of the manhood of Christ Jesus."

They were perhaps the first people, as a sect, who introduced Sunday-Schools which they call Kinderlehr, in which their peculiar views and tenets are taught.

Every look, tone, gesture of a man is a symbol of his complete nature. If we apply the microscope severely enough, we can discern the fine organization by which the soul sends itself out in every act of the being. And the more perfectly developed the creature, the more significant, and yet the more mysterious, is every habit, and every motion, mightier than habit, of body or soul.—Winthrop.

He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is happier who can suit his temper to any circumstances.

DRINKING AT MEALS.

or immediately after eating, is an injurious practice, no matter what the character of the drink; but drinking cold water at such times is particularly so. The cold water theories of thirty years ago have proved themselves fallacious in many respects, and this is one of the cases, though we admit not the worst. How many persons, while escaping from the evils of tea and coffee drinking, fell into this, an equal if not a worse error, we never can know, but that they are to be counted by thousands, is undoubted; and hygienic living and treatment is to-day suffering because of a prejudice justly established against cold water, which is still, unjustly however, considered properly hygienic.

The drinking of cold water and especially ice water at, or soon after meals, is greatly promotive of dyspepsia. It lowers the temperature of the stomach, arrests digestion, and often produces positive irritation, if not inflammation of this organ not only, but of the nerve centers that control the general vital operations, in which case it produces a more decided irritation and injury than either tea or coffee. Tea and coffee as well as other drinks, are undesirable at meals, because they are used to wash down half masticated food, and dilute the gastric juice; when warm they do not immediately arrest digestion, but when cold they do. Even hot drinks are not as bad as cold drinks on a full stomach. But the chief objection to tea and coffee is because of their secondary influence upon the nervous system, which they excite to abnormal activity, thereby inducing undue expenditure of power; while cold water may not only cause this injury, but directly arrest digestion, and during the hot season may prostrate the vital organism.

To supply fluid to carry on the vital operations drink sufficiently of water on rising in the morning, an hour before breakfast, an hour before dinner, and before retiring at night, but resist all desire to do so immediately after a meal. Those who live healthfully will have little thirst. It is the use of salt, spices, sugar, &c., all of which should be avoided, or an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces, caused by such bad habits, that induces this condition. Fruits, grains and vegetables, properly cooked, will supply about all the fluid necessary; and hence drinking is, in general terms, a doubtful expediency.

The best government is self-government.

ON DANCING.

The Chief of Police of New York says that three-fourths of the abandoned girls in that city were ruined by dancing. Young ladies allow gentleman privileges in dancing which, if taken under any other circumstances, these gentlemen would be reported as improper persons. I have a sister who has passed away. On a marble block is written: "Willing to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord." I had rather go there with my sighs, tears, flowers and prayers, and visit that little grave as a shrine, than have her present in the body and see her one night in the dizzy and promiscuous ball-room. It requires neither brains, nor good morals nor religion to be a good dancer. It leads to bad society. It wont mix with religion any more than oil and water will mix. As the love of one increases the love of the other decreases. As certain as the atmosphere around the thermometer at zero will freeze things, as certain as the wind that is bellying the sail will drive the boat, so certain will dancing freeze the religious sentiments out of the soul; it will drive its devotees away from the church; it is a wind that blows in that direction. No dancing is spoken of in the Bible that was done by Divine authority. In ancient times the sexes danced separately.

Alcohol is the "spirit" of beverages. Take it out, and the young men of the land would as soon seek a beverage in the swill tub as in the saloon. So sex is the spirit of the dance. Take it away and let the sexes dance separately, and dancing would shortly be out of fashion. Parlor dancing is dangerous. Tippling leads to drunkenness, and parlor dancing leads to ungodly balls. Tippling and parlor dancing sow to the wind, and both reap the whirlwind. Put dancing in the crucible, apply the acids, weigh it, and the verdict of reason, morality and religion is, "Weighed in the balance and found wanting," and every father or mother who encourage their children in an exercise so demoralizing and dangerous in its results, will also be found wanting in the great day of final accounts.

We know of mothers in the church who think it more important that their daughters appear well in society than for them to accept Christ as their only Savior, little dreaming to what terrible dangers they are exposing them. Mothers, beware! for these things God will bring you into judgment.

"As the message is sent, so deliver it; if you vary it, the sin is your own."—African proverb.

HOMŒOPATHY.

J SPERRY THOMAS, M. D.

The word homœopathy is derived from the Greek Omoioπαθεια, likeness of conditions. It is a system of medical practice, administering such remedies which when given to the healthy subject, will produce symptoms similar to those from which the patient is suffering. This great science of medicine owes its existence to the eminent physician and chemist, Samuel Hahneman, M. D., born in Saxony in 1755. After several years of active practice, whilst he was engaged in translating some medical works, discovered that peruvian bark was capable of producing in a healthy person symptoms similar to those of chills and fever, for which he discovered it had long been considered a specific. He immediately proceeded to investigate further his great discovery, and on examining the records of medical history, he found a number of cures had been produced by drugs which were capable of creating symptoms similar to those which they cured. After years of the most careful and scientific investigation, Hahneman announced his discovery to the world, and established the doctrine of homœopathy, devoting his whole life to the great art of healing.

Hahneman, to his great surprise, discovered that every drug having the power of curing disease was capable of producing symptoms resembling those which it cured. Homœopathy teaches the fact that disease is known only by the symptoms it produces, and that the totality of the symptoms are the only guide in selecting the remedy; and will not allow massive doses which retard recovery and endanger life. Improper treatment, prescribing medicine in excessive doses, the abuse of corrosive sublimate, calomel, opium, quinine, digitalis, the constant use of purgatives, blood-letting, leeches, &c., &c., weaken the organism and tend to demoralize the already prostrate sufferer. The homœopathic student is compelled to acquire a thorough knowledge of all the various branches relating to the science of medicine, such as anatomy, surgery, physiology, chemistry, pathology, &c., to which is superadded the study of homœopathy, which must include a full knowledge of all the mental and physical symptoms that each drug will produce in the healthy body. The mental symptoms often prove the key-note in selecting the remedy.

Hahneman writes on this subject, in the fifth edition of his Organum, section 210, "Persons who are patient in health, are often found in sickness to be obstinate, violent and hasty, or intolerant and wilful, impatient or despairing; those who were previously chaste and modest are then found lascivious and shameless. A bright intellect is not unfrequently found to be dull, a person commonly of weak mind on the other hand will be more shrewd and sensible; while one of sluggish intellect sometimes shows great presence of mind, and promptness, resolution, &c. Thus, aconitum napellus will rarely or never produce a rapid or permanent cure in a person of calm and complacent disposition, as little as nux vomica will affect a mild, phlegmatic, or pulsatilla a happy, cheerful and obstinate temperament; or as little as ignatia proves efficacious in an unchangeable state of mind, inclined neither to fright nor grief."

In short, homœopathy is a science of medicine founded on Nature's own laws, assisting in the recovery of lost vitality by means of the indicated remedy, including the necessary regimen, and most positively condemns the practice of forcing into the system massive doses of pernicious medicines. Its "materia medica" contains many hundreds of valuable drugs, all of which have been scientifically proven on the healthy body, and prescribed only by the guidance of the law, similia similibus curantur.

DESIGN OF FORMS.

Forms were designed by Him who knoweth our frame to be the means by which we might ascend to the enjoyment of himself. But when the mind halts in the symbol, instead of rising from it to the thing signified; when the man runs up and down the ladder, instead of reaching the eminence which commands the glorious prospect, he loses the enjoyment inseparable from intercourse with the blissful reality.

The truly great and good, in affliction, bear a countenance more princely than they are wont; for it is the temper of the highest hearts, like the palm-tree, to strive most upwards when it is most burdened.

"I never complained of my condition but once," said an old man, "when my feet were bare and I had no money to buy shoes, but I met a man without feet and became contented."

PREACHING.

One of the special dangers and defects of preaching in this country is connected with the popular liking for oratory in the pulpit, the demand for what is called eloquent preaching. The common American idea of pulpit eloquence is low and sensational. It means chiefly a rapid and emphatic utterance of sonorous sentences, with something extreme, paradoxical, and violent in the thought presented, though not much thought is required. People demand of the preacher that he shall excite them, and they enjoy with a kind of voluptuousness the temporary stimulus and thrill of emotion which the preacher causes. It is a law of mental action that preaching of this kind does not inspire conscientiousness, nor tend to practical moral activity. It necessarily produces and fosters mental conditions which are extremely unfavorable to spirituality of character and life. This appetite for eloquence, working with other tendencies of the age, has helped to make the preaching in this country dramatic and entertaining, but, in a great measure, unspiritual. This, I think, can be rightly regarded only as a calamity, a tendency opposed to religion, adapted to weaken and subvert it, and to lead the people who are influenced by it into a region where religion will be impossible or regarded as unnecessary. This is one of the most important of the unfortunate tendencies of the age. It has made preaching "more interesting and attractive to the masses," but this has been accomplished by sacrificing much that is essential in religion itself.

INCONSISTENCY IN THE FAMILY.

I have been in his family, said Christian of Talkative, and have observed him both at home and abroad; and I know what I say of him is the truth. His house is as empty of religion as the white of an egg is of savor. There is neither prayer nor sign of repentance for sin; yea, the brute in his kind serves God far better than he. He is the very stain, reproach and shame of religion to all that know him; it can hardly have a good word in all that end of the town where he dwells through him. Thus say the common people of him—"A saint abroad, and a devil at home." His poor family find it so. He is such a churl; such a railer at, and so unreasonable with his servants that they neither know how to do for or to speak to him. Men that have any dealings with him say it is better to deal with a Turk than with him, for fairer dealings they shall have at his hands. This Talkative, if it be possible, will go beyond them, defiance, beguile, and overreach them. Besides, he brings up his sons to follow his steps; and if he finds in any of them a "foolish timorousness" (for so he calls the first appearance of tender conscience), he calls them fools and blockheads, and by no means will employ them in much, or speak to their commendation before others. For my part, I am of the opinion that he has by his wicked life caused many to stumble and fall; and will be, if God prevents not, the ruin of many more — Bunyan.

The Brethren's Hymnal!

The Brethren's Hymnal, as revised, is giving good satisfaction wherever introduced. The selection of tunes embraced, we think, the

The Best Church Music in Use,

both old and new, some entirely new, never having been used before. While we have labored to procure some good new music, we have also been careful not to omit any of the good old tunes that have

GLADDENED the HEARTS of our VENERABLE FOREFATHERS.

In the present edition the arrangement has been changed so that the number of every Hymn in this book corresponds to the number of the same Hymn in the Brethren's Hymn-Book, and therefore, can be used together without any inconvenience.

As singing is an important part of our worship, and as we always advocated congregational singing, it is important that we should all learn to sing. This we can do by introducing the "Hymnal" into all of our churches. We are prepared to fill all orders at the following rates:

THE BRETHREN AT WORK

Is an uncompromising advocate of Primitive Christianity in all its ancient purity. It recognizes the New Testament as the only infallible rule of faith and practice, and maintains that the sovereign, unmerited, unsolicited grace of God is the only source of pardon, and that the vicarious sufferings and meritorious works of Christ are the only price of redemption; that Faith, Repentance and Baptism are conditions of pardon, and hence for the remission of sins, that Trine Immersion is Christian Baptism, and that obedience to Christ in all of the commands of the New Testament, will yield abundant joy.

Published weekly at $1.50 per annum.

Address,

BRETHREN AT WORK,

Lanark, Ill.

Primitive Christian,

Published Weekly at $1.50 a Year.

This Christian journal is devoted to the defense and promotion of Primitive Christianity, as held and practiced by the Church of the Brethren, or German Baptists.

They accept the New Testament as the only proper rule of faith and practice, and hold to the observance of all its commandments and doctrines; among which are Faith, Repentance, Baptism by Trine Immersion, Prayer, the Washing of the Saints' Feet, the Lord's Supper, the Communion, Non-Resistance, Non-Conformity to the world, and the Perfecting of Holiness in the fear of the Lord.

For 1880, it will be enlarged and otherwise improved. There will also be published weekly, a full sermon, preached by Bro. Quinter and others. These sermons alone will be worth the price asked for the paper.

We want everybody to see our sample copy for 1880, which will be sent by return mail, free of charge. Address,

QUINTER & BRUMBAUGH BROS.,

P. O. Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.
